Deliver your messages by voicemail or fax.

2sms has recently added message delivery to voicemail and fax to its product set. 2sms's customers can now communicate with their staff, customers and suppliers in as many ways as possible. This new service is provided by RelayStation, our product partner who offers mass broadcast communication services to business and government customers. For more information on these products contact your 2sms Account Manager, or email support@2sms.com.

View 2sms videos on YouTube.

2sms has added information videos to the YouTube platform. These are designed to help customers use our products as well as learn how SMS text messaging can help their business. The demo's are easy to follow and very helpful, so why not take a look at them under 2sms YouTube video channel.

Salesforce SMS Application Enhancements.

Following requests from our customers, 2sms has added the ability to send Repeat and Scheduled messages from the 2sms Salesforce.com Application. This functionality is now available for all customers using the campaigns through the group messaging application. If you would like to know more about our SMS Salesforce.com Application and its new features contact support@2sms.com.
